

Diversity

is a point of difference.

It means understanding that each individual is unique, and recognising our individual differences.

Who do you think this is?

The Odd Socks

My twin sister loved wearing odd socks

She wears them walking down the street...

...and she wears them walking around at home!

Sometimes they make her walk a little funny.

Sometimes her socks make her say funny things.

Sometimes people laugh at my sister and her odd socks

They don't understand her or the things she says

Odd socks – how ridiculous!!

How shocking!

People laughed at me too saying there goes odd socks sister!!

So one day I tore up and hid all her socks!

Mum cried.

"What have you done to your sister's socks?" she said

But at that moment
my sister came in.

She looked at the torn up socks. She looked at my mum crying.

She looked at me.

She didn't say anything she just gave me a great big hug

Then she said in a quiet voice...

I don't mind.

My sister still wears odd socks at school.

...and she's the head teacher now!!

She still wears them walking down the street.

But you know what? I don't mind. They don't know what it's like having a sister with odd socks.

It's Great because...

BEING DIFFERENT IS

WHAT MAKES US

SPECIAL★

WE ARE ALL EQUAL★

RESPECTING

EVERYONE'S

DIFFERENCES MAKES
